British Army To Begin Coal Deliveries Throughout Country

Military Trucks Will Deliver Coal In Great Britain

Hundreds To Begin Coal Service Monday As Roads Are Broken Open

GOVERNMENT SAYS CORNER IS TURNED

By CHAS. A. SMITH
(L. N. S. Staff Correspondent)

LONDON, Feb. 15.—New British army forces were called in today to assist in coal deliveries throughout England and the government reported that it had "turned the corner" in the nation's fuel crisis.

Beginning Monday, many hundreds of military trucks will commence delivering coal from pitheads to cities where the roads finally have been cleared of snow after days of effort.

Britain embarked upon what may prove to be its last critical week-end in this crisis with workers on every hand participating in methods of finding any early solution.

Dockers as well as miners agreed to give up their normal week end days off in order to distribute and produce more coal.

Building Up Stockpiles
The strenuous effort put forth so far since the situation became acute and the government invoked war-time powers to meet the emergency resulted in mounting stockpiles of the precious fuel.

The danger point was not passed, however, and officials said there appeared to be little chance that power could be made available to (Continued on Page Two)

PA NEW OBSERVES

One year ago yesterday, one of the most drastic temperature ranges possible was noticed. The mercury dropped from a high of 60 degrees to 7 below zero, in one of those freak weather changes. Color weather is promised over the weekend, but PA New hopes it doesn't get that cold.

Even the birds are anxiously looking forward to the coming of spring, and they seem to know when it is just around the corner. In addition to the report of robins, PA New notes that the cardinals are beginning to give forth with their cheery whistles, several having been heard in the past few days. Cardinals are seen all winter round but they do not seem to sing much until warmer weather dings night.

Autos licensed in Pennsylvania will carry two license plates after April 1. State Revenue Secretary David W. Harris announced that two license plates will be issued for cars this year. During the war years only one license plate was issued, due to steel saving efforts. New license plates can be used as early as March 15, Mr. Harris announced.

Mild weather of the past few days is making rapid progress in leveling down the snow drifts that accumulated in the county during the past week-end.

Renovations are progressing rapidly at the Pennsylvania freight station on West Washington street, PA New noticed today. The north end of the building was swept by fire some weeks ago but workmen inside the structure and are now engaged in painting the outside.

Charge Landlord Shot And Killed Two Tenants

SAN FRANCISCO, Feb. 15.—(INS)—Jacob Watson, 63, a San Francisco landlord, was held in jail on murder charges today after he allegedly shot to death two of his tenants because they staged "noisy parties."

Authorities said Watson shot the tenants as they left their apartment last night.

In the morgue lay the bodies of the victims, Harold Collins, 40, and his common law wife, Estelle Lincoln, 33.

When police arrived on the scene, Watson surrendered readily and said: "These people made me darned much noise."

Police said they had been called numerous times to the apartment house to quell disturbances reported by Watson.

Last night, Collins and Miss Lincoln left their apartment and walked downstairs together.

At the foot of the stairs, stood Watson, a rifle in his hands. He fired at the woman first and dropped her with a bullet in the neck. Then he opened fire on Collins, hitting him twice.

Collins, despite his wound, raced past Watson and sought cover in an entrance to the building, but Watson followed him and shot him again.

Several months ago Watson filed suit to evict Collins and Miss Lincoln. The action was pending.

U.S. Again Opposes Spread Of Communistic Influences In Balkans

By GEORGE DURNO

WASHINGTON, Feb. 15.—The United States government again was on record today in opposition to the spread of Communistic influences in the Balkan area.

Secretary of State George C. Marshall's demand that Greek independence and territorial integrity be maintained was accepted as a further challenge to Soviet Russia's progressive domination of Central Europe.

Greece alone of the countries in the Balkan region thus far has withstood Moscow's guidance and philosophy.

A United Nations mission is now in Greece investigating charges and counter-charges presented by Greece, Albania, Yugoslavia and Bulgaria involving armed border incidents.

Likewise, an American mission in financial assistance the United States should or should not extend to that government.

Without waiting for the report of either of these bodies, Secretary "aggravating internal factionalism" Marshall condemned the efforts of to paralyze the Greek body politic.

Rescue Crew Of Ship Aground In Marianas Area

HONOLULU, Feb. 15.—(INS)—Thirty-nine crew members aboard the American tanker Lake Sapor, which went aground on a reef in the Marianas, south of Japan, were taken off the vessel today by rescue ships.

The men were taken to the island of Iwo Jima, and reports reaching Honolulu said there were no casualties.

The Lake Sapor, loaded with 8,000 barrels of high octane gas, went aground yesterday.

The tanker's master sent a distress message saying the vessel struck a reef off the island of Manami To Shima near Iwo Jima.

Navy authorities at Pearl Harbor said the Colgate Victory, the destroyer Shelton and two LSTs were proceeding to aid the grounded vessel.

A Navy Privateer plane equipped with droppable lifeboats was circling the vessel, but the crew was not reported in any danger.

The Lake Sapor is under charter from the War Shipping Administration to the Waterman Line of Mobile, Ala. The ship displaces 3,389 tons.

ADMITTS SHOOTING GROCER DURING STORE ROBBERY

PITTSBURGH, Feb. 15.—(INS)—James S. Forse, Jr., 23-year-old war veteran, today admitted to police he shot and killed a Pittsburgh grocer during an attempted holdup.

Forse previously had confessed slaying Alfred Kemper, 69, the grocer, but had claimed the shooting occurred when the two struggled for possession of a pistol that fell from his pocket when he took out his wallet to pay for cigarettes. He had said he planned no robbery.

Then, after consenting to submit to a lie detector test, he told police he had attempted to rob Kemper in his store. He said the elderly grocer grabbed his wrist and the gun was accidentally discharged.

Committee For Six Billion Cut In U. S. Budget

Congress Committee Votes 50-22 For Slash In Government Spending

ISSUE READY FOR CONGRESS DEBATE

By ARTHUR F. HERMANN

WASHINGTON, Feb. 15.—The bitter battle over the proposed six billion dollar slash in government spending headed today toward full congressional debate as a chief Republican spokesman disclaimed the 31.5 billion dollar spending "ceiling" as a hard and fast commitment.

The cut, approved by a 50 to 22 vote of the senate and house appropriations and taxing committees, must still be ratified by majority votes of the house and senate. Both chambers tentatively scheduled debate on the matter for next Wednesday.

Rep. Taber (R) N. Y., who acted as chairman of the joint legislative budget committee, had the following to say regarding the spending cut: "It does not in any way change the rules of the house or the rules of the senate and it would not prevent the (appropriations) committees from going below or above the ceiling fixed in this budget ceiling."

Goals To Shoot At
Taber told newsmen that the budget cut "is an expression of an aim to shoot at." He said that he considered it to be a "moral" obligation, and that he, as chairman of the house appropriations committee, would "strive to the very best of my ability to keep appropriations and spending within the ceiling."

Budget committee approval of the huge cut came after a day of fruitless (Continued on Page Two)

Byrd In Flight In Immediate South Pole Area

Representing the Combined American Press (Distributed by International News Service)

LITTLE AMERICA, Feb. 14.—(Delayed)—Rear Admiral Richard E. Byrd flew within 170 miles of the South Pole today while leading exploratory flights by four navy ski-planes which resulted in discovery of a major mountain range.

Byrd said his plane could have turned from its map-making and gone across the pole, but did not because there was more important exploratory business at hand. He is the only man ever to have flown over both North and South Poles.

The converted Douglas transports penetrated far into the Antarctic unknown, seeking to fill in another pie-shaped blank in the Antarctic map. Sparkling sub-zero weather, ending a long period of blizzards and overcast, gave the explorers excellent visibility.

BLAME ENGINE SPARKS

Damage was estimated at $50,000 by A. J. Hamilton, the owner.

Oppose Proposals For Government Intervention To Solve Labor Problems

By WILLIAM THEIS

WASHINGTON, Feb. 15.—The National Association of Manufacturers urged congress today to drop Republican labor proposals leading to "more government intervention" but endorsed a roster of other GOP labor curbs.

Ira Mosher, chairman of the NAM's executive committee, told the senate labor committee that such devices as labor courts, federal mediation boards, compulsory arbitration and fact-finding boards spell a threat which is the "chief cause" of external interference between labor and management.

Framing Labor Court Plan
Two Republican senators—Ferguson of Michigan and Smith of New Jersey—are now framing a labor court plan. Both Republicans and Democrats have submitted bills setting up permanent mediation boards.

Mosher said that industry-wide bargaining and secondary boycotts were the other external interferences to "good labor relations." He (Continued on Page Two)

Withdrawal Of Lilienthal Being Urged By Senators

Atomic Committee Senators Seek Withdrawal Of Nomination By Truman

By FRANK B. ALLEN

WASHINGTON, Feb. 15.—Atomic committee senators went into a desperate undercover fight today for the "negotiated withdrawal" of President Truman's nomination of David E. Lilienthal to head the atomic control commission.

Despite the president's insistence on his nomination, the atomic senators were putting out feelers in the hope of averting an embarrassing deadlock such as the administration suffered last year on the nomination of Edwin W. Pauley to be undersecretary of the navy.

Want To Avert Break
Republican senators not only want to avert a break with the president, but they are facing a most embarrassing party split, extending into the GOP's senate leadership.

GOP senators reportedly suggested at a secret committee meeting last night that Mr. Truman be approached and asked to reconsider his nomination of Lilienthal. (Continued on Page Two)

ESTIMATE DRUG ADDICTS SPEND MILLIONS YEARLY

NEW YORK, Feb. 15.—(INS)—Col. Garland H. Williams, district supervisor of the Federal Bureau of Narcotics estimated today that New York City drug addicts spend $25 million a year on dope.

Williams said there were at least 3,000 addicts in New York City and said they spend an average of $25 a day each for drugs.

He voiced approval of a state law under which known addicts could be interned up to a year unless they consented to taking a cure for the habit.

Nineteen Killed In Philippines

MANILA, Feb. 15.—(INS)—Rescue parties today recovered 13 bodies of 19 persons killed in two gigantic ammunition explosions at the U. S. Army Reservation at Bataan, in Batangas Province.

It was unofficially estimated that 22 tons of explosives blew up. Scores of civilians were injured by the blasts and were treated at the Provincial hospital.

The victims were civilian employees of the army.

Continuing explosions hampered the search for bodies and it was feared that the death toll might be higher.

Seven persons were known to have been killed in the first explosion and 12 more perished when the second ammo dump blew up a few minutes later.

The cause of the explosions was not immediately determined. Col. William S. Ely was appointed to head a board of inquiry.

Second Court Decision Gives Aid To Talmadge

Claimant For Georgia Governor Post Wins Second Round In Courts

DECISION GIVES HIM FUND CONTROL (BULLETIN)

McDONOUGH, Ga., Feb. 15.—(INS)—Gov. Herman Talmadge won another decisive victory today in his legal battle with Lieut. Gov. M. E. Thompson for Georgia's disputed governorship.

Talmadge's second major triumph came when Superior Court Judge Bond Almand returned a verdict in a suit brought by the Fulton (Atlanta) National Bank against both Talmadge and Thompson.

Earlier in the week Judge Walter Hendrix ruled that the general assembly acted within the law in electing him chief executive.

Gives Control Of Funds
The new decision from the bench of the Henry County court, gives the 34-year-old son of the late Gov. Elect Eugene Talmadge control of the state's executive department funds.

Judge Almand, in effect, also ruled against the Fulton National Bank by dissolving the temporary restraining order previously granted.

The bank announced it would file an immediate appeal to the supreme court. Indications were that Thompson, in such case, will become a party to the bank's appeal because the Thompson demurrers were included in the bank's bill of exceptions which had already been prepared by Attorney Devereaux McClatchey.

To File Cross Bill
Thompson attorneys are also expected to file a cross bill of exceptions.

In his ruling, Judge Almand referred to Judge Hendrix' verdict proclaiming Talmadge as the legal governor, and said that "this court concurs."

Only a handful of spectators were in the court chamber today as Judge Almand read his decision.

Atty. Gen. Eugene Cook, representing Thompson, and B. D. Murphy chief counsel for Talmadge, listed attentively to Judge Almond's ruling.

Thirteen Miners End Sitdown

LANSPFORD, Pa., Feb. 13.—(INS)—Thirteen hard coal miners emerged from a Lansford colliery today where they had staged a unique three-day sitdown strike 800 feet underground.

Termination of the sitdown strike also brought an automatic end to a sympathy walkout of 6,000 miners at three other collieries in the Panther valley coal mining area.

A spokesman for the group said the sitdowners had accepted a proposition from the Lehigh Coal and Navigation Co., operators of the colliery, aimed at eliminating a pay docking grievance which sparked the strike.

The sitdowners, apparently none the worse for their experience, came out of the mine shortly after 10:30 a. m. They had been in the mine since Wednesday night.

Pottery Employees Get Wage Increase

Shenango Pottery Officials And C. I. O. Reach Agreement On Wage Scale

Following conferences between officials of the Shenango Pottery, representatives of Local 3125, United Steel Workers of America CIO and a representative of the international office of the union, an hourly increase of 2 1/2 cents for all employees of the pottery has been agreed upon, retroactive to February 1, it is announced. The agreement also provides a 25 cents hourly bonus for all work performed on Sundays.

This agreement is in line with agreements now existing in other vitrified china plants, it is stated. Approximately 2300 employees will be affected by the new wage scale.

G. Brown Zahniser, superintendent of the plant, and James Smith Jr., president, were negotiators for the company. John H. Grittle, represented the International Office, U. S. Steelworkers, CIO.

Negotiators for local union No. 3125, Shenango Pottery, included: Otto Montanary, president; Joseph Lombardo, vice president; Angelina Jacobson, financial secretary; George Hammond, treasurer; Jack McCombs, chairman of grievance committee, and the following members of the negotiating committee: Earl Cubertson, Russell Powell, Guerino Santangelo, Tony Valentino and Stanley Verenski.

Traffic Deaths Continue To Mount During Dark Hours

Deaths During Nighttime Two To Three Times Fatalities Occurring in Daylight

CLEVELAND, Feb. 15.—(INS)—Traffic deaths in daylight have been curbed by intensive safety campaigns but fatalities at night continue to mount. Deaths after dark are now two to three times those of daylight. In heavy traffic areas, they are six to one over daytime.

Ordinary daytime safety precautions are ineffective at night because they assume that motorists and pedestrians can see adequately. On the contrary, vision after dark is so impaired that fatal hazards are seen too late or not at all.

Chained visibility is the one radical and unrecognized difference between day and night traffic. Night hazards are the same as daylight. Obscure, by darkness, every daytime hazard becomes much more deadly. There is less time for life-saving reflexes.

Ordered Off Posts

Realizing this hazardous factor in night traffic, a Connecticut police chief has ordered traffic policemen off their posts after dark at dangerous traffic intersections. He declares he can "no longer assume the responsibility for the safety of men under his command by placing them in hazardous occupations."

The close relationship between visibility and death in traffic is indicated by experience in San Francisco. During the first year of a program to improve night visibility, added illumination increased visibility 13 per cent; deaths dropped 14 per cent. The second year visibility was increased 19 per cent and deaths fell 21 per cent. At the end of the third year, visibility had been improved 30 per cent and motor vehicle deaths dropped 30 per cent.

As a result of this experience, San Francisco is improving visibility by spending $4,000,000 to modernize its street illumination. Among other cities, Chicago is spending $10,000,000 over a period of years, Detroit $1,575,000 and Buffalo $400,000, the amount in each case depending upon the extent of the project.

The cost for adequate lighting, which would cut night traffic deaths at least 50 per cent, is approximately $2 per capita.

Coat May Be Clue In Mystery Slaying Of Two In Illinois

PHILADELPHIA, Feb. 15.—(INS)—Quaker city police admitted today that they have found a coat containing "krazy cat" labels which have been stolen from Mrs. Lillian Galvin, wealthy Evanston, Ill., woman slain in 1942.

Police said that an unidentified woman turned the coat over to them. She said she bought the coat in New York City.

Authorities have not been able to learn when or where the coat was purchased, however.

A coat similar to the one which Philadelphia say they have stolen from Mrs. Galvin in a $28,600 robbery which resulted in the death of the Evanston woman and her maid, Edna Sibilski.

The case has baffled hundreds of the nation's outstanding detectives and FBI agents. The "doodle" coat is reportedly the sole clue in the dual murder.

Republicans Take Issue With N.A.M.

WASHINGTON, Feb. 15.—(INS)—Republican members of the Senate labor committee took issue today with a National Association of Manufacturers' demand that jurisdictional strikes be banished by giving employers the "right to decide" who will work in their plants.

Chairman Taft (R) Ohio, told Ira Mosher, chairman of the N.A.M.'s executive committee, that his proposal "certainly gives the employer the chance to wreck a union."

Taft said on the side of labor: "They have a right to strike. I'm in favor of abolishing jurisdictional strikes. But I don't know how you can do it unless you give someone (outside the disputing parties) the power to decide."

Report 25 Hurt In Train Wreck

MAXVILLE, Pa., Feb. 15.—(INS)—The cause of a wreck that crumpled the northbound Orange Blossom Special of the Seaboard Air Line Railroad remained undetermined today as officials opened an investigation of the accident.

At least 25 persons were injured in the derailment of seven cars of the Miami to New York train one mile south of Maxville last night.

Earlier, 50 persons had been reported injured in the wreck.

Railroad officials said that as far as they could determine no one was killed.

The diner was the most heavily damaged car.

Search For Boy End In Toledo

Fourteen-Month-Old Baby Is Found With Couple In Ohio City Today

TOLEDO, O., Feb. 15.—(INS)—A nation-wide search for 14-month-old Donald Waltman, of Nesho, Mo., and a couple who allegedly kidnapped him last July ended today in Toledo.

Robert Humbarger, a former Camp Crowder, Mo., soldier, and his wife were arrested last night by police at their suburban home on Route 3, Toledo.

Young Donald was found with the couple and, according to Police Sgt. Margaret Slater, was in fine condition. The youngster was taken to Maumee hospital where the couple was held in the Toledo Safety building on a warrant received by Lucas County Sheriff Charles Hennessy.

The warrant, signed Thursday by the baby's mother, Mrs. Virginia Waltman, charged the couple with kidnapping Donald.

Police said Humbarger told them he and his wife took the baby, with Mrs. Waltman's permission, when he was transferred from the Missouri camp to Ft. Monmouth, N. J., in July, 1946. The baby was taken to Toledo at that time, according to police.

Mr. Truman was informed of the accident Friday morning by a telephone call from his sister, Miss Mary Truman.

Armed Band Of 500 Seizes Grounded Ship, Attempts To Kill Members Of Crew

LONDON, Feb. 15.—(INS)—Five hundred Arab pirates armed with rifles and daggers boarded the grounded Egyptian vessel Star of Mexico in the Persian gulf today and attempted to kill the crew.

The London Evening Standard, which reported the seizure, said the members of the crew fled in lifeboats.

The British tanker British Destiny radioed from near the scene.

"Arabs seized the Star of Mexico using force and are taking everything. Rescue crew sent by us."

A Karachi dispatch to Lloyd's underwriters said the British navy was being urged to intervene to save the ship and its cargo.

Coal ships steamed up the Thames river to London throughout the night, quickly unloaded and turned about toward the north to take on further cargoes.

The first break in the crisis came with announcement that householders will be permitted a longer "switch-on" period Sunday to enable housewives to cook Sunday dinners for families whose lives have been disrupted throughout the week.

Use Military Transport

The government put 3,000 bulldozers and snow ploughs to work to clear up snowbound roads. Military transport was brought into extensive use.

The London Daily Mail suggested meanwhile that the wartime home guard, which consisted of a million 700 thousand men and officers, should be recalled to service to clear roads and open rail lines to snow-bound villages.

While experts remained on duty over the week end to keep in touch with the situation, the government's special coal emergency committee decided not to meet again until Monday.

The question of whether gas supplies will have to be curtailed will be considered then.

The British press acted to aid less fortunate publications which were ordered to cease operations temporarily in order to save fuel.

The larger newspapers which are classed as national or local importance took steps to give up a certain amount of their column space to publish the highlights of material normally contained in special news sheets and news magazines.

tion of the troubles which the British, Arabs and Jews were unable to attain.

Await Presentation

The British presentation of the problem is expected to be made simply in a note to Secretary General Trygve Lie which will review British efforts to settle the fate of its League of Nations mandate.

The trusteeship council, established to continue the work of the league's mandate commission, is the logical place for the thorny assignment to be made. It reopens meetings on March 2.

The security council would be called upon to deal with the problem only if the British term the Palestine situation a "threat to the peace" or label the Holy Land "a strategic area for international security."

There is little likelihood the British will take such a course.

The general assembly might be called into special session but almost no possibility of such an elaborate approach exists.

The British delegation is awaiting instructions from London which are not expected until early next week. Dr. Cestl K. Zurayk of the Syrian delegation indicated the Arab policy on the new development would not be formulated until the Arab league meeting in Cairo beginning March 1.

Other senators stuck to their prediction that Sen. Taft (R) Ohio, chairman of the powerful GOP policy committee, will make a statement against Lilienthal.

COMMITTEE FOR SIX BILLION CUT IN U. S. BUDGET

less efforts by Democrats—and a few Republicans—to reach a compromise figure below the six billion dollar figure approved earlier this week by a special subcommittee.

Sen. William F. Dill, chairman of the senate finance committee, supported by Sen. Taft (R) Ohio, sought to trim the cut to four billion 500 million dollars, but met defeat by a 46 to 29 vote. An effort to exclude the armed forces from taking any cuts in spending was shouted down by a vote, and a move by Senate Minority Leader Barkley (D) Ky., to apply any money saving to payments on the national debt was ruled "out of order."

Stand Firm For Cut

The Republican majority within the budget committee beat back all efforts to ease the cut on national defense, despite warnings from Secretary of War Patterson, Secretary of State Marshall, Secretary of the Navy Forrestal and President Truman.

As it stands now, the spending cut calls for reductions of one billion dollars in army spending, 750 millions in navy spending and 500 millions in army "civil functions," which includes rivers and harbors projects and foreign relief administered by the war department.

House approval of the overall cut in President Truman's request for 37.5 billion dollars in spending for the 1948 fiscal year appeared certain, with Taber predicting that the outlook was "bright."

Senate action, however, was unpredictable in view of the fact that the Republican majority—51 to 44—was much closer than in the lower chamber.

TRUMAN'S MOTHER FRACTURES HIP

The hip was fractured again and her left shoulder also was broken in another fall in 1944 when President Truman was campaigning for the vice presidency.

The X-rays were reported to have indicated that Mrs. Truman's current injury is worse than those suffered in the two previous falls.

However, Dr. Joseph W. Greene, the family's physician, said that there appeared to be no immediate danger in Mrs. Truman's condition.

IN THE MIDDLE OF "R's" OYSTERS ARE PRIME.

February is an "R" month and "R" months are oyster months. Fact is February is up to its chin in "R's" surrounded by them on both sides. All of which means that oysters are prime just now, in the Castleton hotel. Or perhaps you care more for lobsters or clams. Let Casper show you what it means to really enjoy sea food.

WASHINGTON CALLING

by MARQUIS CHILDS

Warns Timber Supply Rapidly Diminishing

WASHINGTON, Feb. 15.—Certain warnings have the sound of an old phonograph record played over and over again. Old stuff, we say, and go on with what happens to preoccupy us at the moment. That is all too true of the oft-told tale of our diminishing natural resources. But the other day, the chief of the forest service, Lyle F. Watts, put out an annual report that deserved more than the indifference it received. If we had an ounce of old-fashioned common sense, we would stop, look, listen and act.

What Watts was talking about was not a threat that is here and now. In timber, the cupboard is almost bare. Not until there is a drastic change in timbering methods will there be an end to the present shortage of timber products. That means that housing and every other form of construction will continue to lag. The shortage cannot be cured until we begin to grow more trees, and this is a lengthy process.

Cutting Huge Amount
At the present time, we are cutting nearly twice as much sawtimber as is planted each year. As Watts puts it, we are overdrawing our timber bank account each year by 18,600,000,000 board feet. And that at a moment when the last stands of virgin forest are being wastefully cut down.

According to the latest report, 64 per cent of the cutting is at present classified as "poor and destructive," and only seven per cent as "good." In other words, the old wasteful methods of slash and burn that swept down the vast forest resources of this continent still prevail. They prevail at a moment when, as the chief forester put it:

"We are becoming more and more dependent on the size of our annual timber crop. And our annual timber crop is not big enough to supply the nation's present appetite for timber products. It is far short of what we are likely to need for a strong, expanding economy in the future."

Not Too Late
It is still time to reverse the present trend. That is to say, it is not too late if we have the courage and the reality to act to save this vanishing resource. Watts outlines four steps that must be taken. First, as an elementary step, organized fire protection must be brought to the 136,000,000 acres of forest land that do not have the protection of organized fire protection. And the forces fighting forest pests and parasites must be built up to full effectiveness.

Second, the planting program must be increased "so as to bring into productivity millions of non-productive forest acres now being carried as dead weight." Third, waste must be reduced through the more complete utilization of the trees now being cut. And lastly, destructive cutting practices must be stopped at the same time that wider adoption of good forest management is encouraged.

As Watts spells it out, "some measure" of public control over forestry practices is absolutely vital if this program is to become a reality. It cannot be done if free enterprise goes its unrestrained way. For, as he points out, there are powerful interests that resist any effort to improve methods of cutting meant to conserve the remains of our forests. They apparently would go right on until the last tree was cut down.

Use Scarce Woods
Immediately, of course, you can come up against certain scarce words—"regimentation," "dictatorship" and "socialization." The powerful interests make use of those scarce words to serve their own purpose. Immediately, too, you come up against a Congress talking about economy. Certainly we need economy. We need economy in spending but even more we need the kind of economy that will save our dwindling resources. It would take money to carry out the program outlined by Chief Forester Watts. That money, spent wisely, could be returned three or four-fold in terms of our forest resources.

It might even be returned in the form of money to the treasury of the United States, through taxes. The kind of program Watts is talking about need not be regimentation and socialization. A working partnership between industry and government is perfectly possible with a little reasonableness on both sides. That kind of common sense is essential if we are not to become permanently a have-not nation. We are close today to the danger line. The margin of time is very small. The handwriting on the wall should be plain enough for even the blind and the most selfish among us to read.

Health Talks

ADENOIDS
Adenoids are little lumps or tumors which sometimes grow in the throats of children. Sometimes they are small and few. Sometimes they are large. They cause trouble by blocking the air passages which should be clear and open.

Sometimes this blocking causes the face of the child to be deformed. It gets flat. It may be called frog face.

These adenoids should be removed before they cause deformity of the face.

The face never is right, afterwards. Adenoids usually go away themselves in later years after the damage has been done.

After the face has become flat, it stays that way whether the adenoids are removed or not. They should be removed anyway, because they cause other troubles besides flat face.

LOOKING AT LIFE

By ERICH BRANDEIS

If Christ came back to earth today would He be crucified again? Ridiculous, you say, and yet I say Christ is being crucified every day. The original crucifixion is one of the vilest events in human history.

But, at least in spirit, that same crucifixion, at least in spirit, is a common daily occurrence. The church is the symbol of peace. Every preacher on every Sunday talks about peace and admonishes us to live in brotherly love and in unity.

But . . . In one of New York's most important churches there is complete dissension, because one faction wants to sell the building at a huge profit, while the other wants to keep it. The pastor has resigned.

In another very large church, the congregation is split over the election of a new minister. In a New England town the minister was recently dismissed because he could not get along with his congregation, and the parishioners can't agree on a new man.

In a little up-state town the people criticize their minister severely because he is "too hifalutin'" for them. I know of many other cases of dissension within the church.

How can there be peace and brotherly love in this world when there cannot even be peace in the church itself? What is the function of the church? To promote peace and unity, and to lead the way. The church is supposed to be the spiritual leader of its people. Leadership can be effective only by example.

One has no right to preach unless . . .

What People Say

WASHINGTON—President Truman: "This government stands ready to do everything within its power to relieve the plight of the British people in their present fuel emergency."

CHICAGO—Prof. Harold C. Urey, atomic scientist: "The scientists hope that Congress will keep party politics out of the vital issue of atomic energy."

WASHINGTON—Rep. Robert L. Sikes (D-Florida) wants the House "Alaska may be tomorrow's Pearl Harbor and with far more disastrous consequences."

HAMILTON, N. Y.—H. Struve Hensel, wartime assistant secretary of the navy: "We have not only demobilized physically, but what is most terrifying, we seem to have demobilized our thinking."

What we need in this community is more frontier spirit . . . not that spirit we sometimes call rugged individualism . . . but the spirit that leads forward to bigger and better things. We need some one or a group that will step out and lead . . . lead with a left when necessary . . . for so many, many years we all have set back and let the oldtimers do our planning . . . especially when it came to money matters . . . Everyone is always for a project until the matter of cash comes up and then so very many say back and say . . . let the other fellow pay . . . he has more than I have.

One group of workers in this community are up on their toes and are today doing something about progress . . . no matter what has happened in the past this group have taken hold of the business end of the problem and by careful planning have started the ball rolling in the right direction. The employees of the Johnson-Bronze Company we are talking about . . . through the employees of the J-B . . . headed by Joe Daugherty, the present president, we the people will be able to enjoy good baseball this summer.

The ball park that these men and women are planning . . . and today working on . . . up Croton way is one of the greatest things that has ever happened to New Castle . . . good luck Joe and all your loyal fellow employees.

And another item that we need in New Castle . . . better railroad stations. We understand that the P&LE have stepped out with a new idea . . . that of letting the public decide what type of timetable it prefers . . . after all these years it might be possible to read a timetable without a college education . . . Now if we could get some of the other roads to get modern and say something definite about improving our station facilities here in New Castle . . . it's an old old story . . . but is that any reason why it should not be discussed out in the open?

Yes, let's get off our posteriors . . . and get out and do something . . . what are we waiting for.

The Parent Problem

By Garry C. Myers, Ph. D.

CHILDREN REAL VICTIMS OF DIVORCE

Month by month, I receive more and more letters about children of divorced parents, usually written by the mother or grandmother. And the worse is yet to be. There was a divorce for every three marriages in the United States in 1945.

These letters are hard to answer well, for emotional problems, problems of control—all the usual problems of child guidance, indeed, nearly always grow out of the divorce with the child of any age whose parents have been separated. You see, the child was subjected to the strained and trying family atmosphere leading to the separation. Then, as so often happens, these emotional problems linger. The parent or other relatives tug at the child's heartstrings and try to stir up hate in his heart toward the other parent. This other parent and relatives tend to do likewise.

Lack Of Insight
Then, horrible to relate, some judges who seem to have no insight into the heart and mind of a child, will assign the youngster part-time to one parent and part-time to the other. Poor kid, he is then kicked about between them and their respective relatives like a football. As long as I live I mean to cry out against this barbarity. If the parents themselves have no more heart, the judge should, it seems to me.

Often the child of divorced parents is left with grandparents. But being so much older than the parents, these grandparents, however wise, may not be able to guide this child as well as he deserves. Nor provide him with normal emotional background. But bless their hearts! These grandparents may have tried to do their very best and may have no end of heartaches over the child. Sometimes, too, a grandmother is left alone with the child who thus can't have adequate masculine influence.

If the parent to whom the child is assigned remarries, the other spouse may have some children; and there may be new children by the latest marriage, rendering the problems of the child and all others concerned harder and harder, as a rule. Who can comprehend all the forces which can hinder the child of divorced parents from being happy and of growing up with good mental health and good citizenship? Nevertheless, some of these children do turn out well, thanks to the parent-substitutes.

Always when I try to advise on a specific problem with a child, I know that unless the emotional background to the child should have been favorable, my advice has poor chance to work. And when the problem is about a child-victim of divorce I feel less sure my advice will work.

True, a few children may be better off following a divorce. But parents who really feel their obligations to their child should have strong urge to try harder than most do to stick together companionably. Of course, one parent alone may not be able to assure this success. There does come a point where living with a spouse is intolerable; and from studies which have been published it seems that far more often than not the wife is expected to make all the adjustments. What kind of husbands and wives and parents are these child-victims going to be by and by? What kind will your children and mine be, I wonder? What can we do about it while they are still young?

Seven tricks are made. 'Tis not the hand was poorly played. But some mistake of mine.

They've told me, and I understand, Bridge is a partner game. There must be one to play the hand And one to take the blame. (Copyright, 1947, Edgar A. Guest)

State Police Say:

You must learn to respect speed. If you're traveling at 30 miles per hour and hit a car approaching at 30 miles per hour, you get the impact of hitting a brick wall at 60 miles per hour. If you're speeding along the road at 60 miles per hour, it takes 251 feet on dry pavement to stop. That's almost a city block. At lower speeds your chances of surviving an emergency are far greater.

MURDER WILL OUT
Errors of history somehow have a way of being exposed with the passing of time. The assumption in this country that the United States was a factor of major importance in the defeat of the Axis in World War II meets the common fate of these errors. Russia already had the Axis licked before either this country or Britain found the courage to venture. This tip, as the racing toots say, comes straight from the feed-box. It was broadcast over the official Moscow radio by one Georgi Alexandrov, who is head of the official Soviet propaganda bureau. Says Georgi:

"It is known that Britain and the United States launched military operations on the greatest scale only when it became clear that the Soviet Armies, without the Allies' help was capable of occupying the whole of Germany with its own forces."

This is the record made straight for the Russian Press. This is the defeat of the Axis in Africa, Sicily and Italy by British and Americans officially exploded. This is the little operation which started in Normandy and ended near Berlin exposed as capitalistic mythology. This is that trifling project known as lend-lease freed from the record. Only Soviet politeness, of course, kept the Red armies from marching straight across to the western German border, and taking possession of the whole country, although it took them weeks to overcome Berlin after the Yanks and Britons had made a foolish pretense of knocking out the whole Nazi military machine.

There is a bare possibility, however, that Georgi is the victim of a certain amount of confused thinking. He may mix up the European campaign in his mind with the terrible five-day "war" carried on by Russia in Manchuria after we had given Japan the final knockout. Georgi must be the same fellow who told the Soviet populace that Russia won that war too.

Washington Reports

Vandenberg's Power Expanded By Recent Events
Marshall Continues Loyal To War I Chief, Pershing
G. O. P. Senators Ignore "Pairing Custom"

WASHINGTON, Feb. 15.—Senator Arthur H. Vandenberg (R) of Michigan has become one of the most powerful men in the Senate. He is its president and also, by virtue of his close association with former Secretary of State James F. Byrnes under the bi-partisan administration of foreign policy, chairman of the Senate foreign relations committee.

However, Vandenberg refuses to concede himself a chance at the GOP presidential nomination in 1948. Moreover, he would decline to be No. 2 man behind either Dewey or Taft. However, some political observers think he would be a formidable "dark horse" if Dewey and Taft should engage in a knockdown, drag-out fight.

Even if he does not become president, there are those who think he is a virtual cinch for secretary of state if the GOP wins in '48.

Although he has taken over the burden of directing America's foreign policy, Secretary of State George Marshall still finds time to pay his weekly visit to Gen. John J. Pershing, World War I United States Army leader.

General Marshall, who visited Pershing regularly during the past war, is about the only caller the aged general receives outside of members of his family or his aide. Pershing, who is confined to Walter Reed hospital in Washington, has been in bad condition for several years and his health is gradually declining.

Chairman Chas. McNary (R) of South Dakota of the Senate armed services committee, is determined to run party-line politics from shaping of legislation to maintain the nation's military strength.

Gurney takes the view that partisan politics should be pushed aside in his committee, as in the foreign relations committee, because armed strength is an international instrument.

Senator Gurney already has taken steps along this line. He asked the then Secretary of State Byrnes to advise his committee on what hidden dangers lie in the international scene. Now, he has extended the same invitation to Secretary of State Marshall.

Republicans as well as Democrats on the committee applauded the move by their chairman.

For the first time, perhaps in the history of political patronage in Congress, Republican leaders have appointed to the post of "supreme arbiter" a politician with a heart. He is Rep. Leo E. Allen (R) of Illinois, father of five children, who believes that deserving employees should be retained—even Democrats.

Consequently, among those who will continue are an old man who runs an elevator in the Capitol, a youth working his way through college, and a crippled father. Another employee, sponsored by a Democrat, faced dismissal. He suffered from tuberculosis and was partially incapacitated. Allen recommended that he be retained.

Republican refusal in the Senate to observe time-tried courtesy and custom by giving a "pair" to the Democrats covering an absent minority member angered Democratic leaders. But that was not all.

During the crucial vote on continuation of the Senate war investigating committee, Senator John H. Overton (D) of Louisiana was absent because of illness in his family. Custom provides that Overton could have been "paired" with a Republican voting the other way. But GOP Leader Robert Taft ignored custom; the vote looked too close. The Republicans won by three votes.

Two days later on the question of recreating the small business committee, Minority Secretary Leslie B. Biffle almost dropped his telephone when Taft asked to have a "pair" arranged for himself. Biffle politely reminded Taft of his previous actions and then agreed to Taft's "pair" with Senator Harley M. Kilgore (D) of West Virginia.

Views Of The News

By J. C. OESTREICHER

The parliamentary system of the British empire, embedded deep in history and tradition, were brought into sharp focus today by the coal crisis in Britain.

Emergency measures and drastic restrictions upon the civilian and working life of every British civilian and the public resentment arising from them raised the question of whether Laborite Prime Minister Clement R. Attlee's government could or would remain in power.

The checks and balances of the British parliamentary system often have been cited as the purest example of pure democracy. This has been on the grounds that a British premier, unlike an American president, could be thrown out of office overnight at any time the House of Commons lost confidence in him.

Yet the situation prevailing at the moment is something of a contradiction and a paradox.

For the House of Commons is so heavily Socialist because of the last Labor landslide at the polls that it is difficult to foresee any vote of censure denouncing the Attlee regime carrying through.

Winston Churchill, leader of the Conservative opposition, recognized the realities of this and the desperate nature of the coal emergency in announcing that he would put off until another day any formal motion condemning the government.

means for elimination of unpopular governments in England.

In 1916, for example, the late Earl of Oxford and Asquith found that the measures had been taking for prosecution of the war against Imperial Germany were not favored by the members of his cabinet as a whole.

So without even waiting for the issue to be placed on a parliamentary vote basis, he went to the late King George V and asked to be replaced. He felt he could not continue with the cards of his cabinet stacked against him.

The king nominated Bonar Law, another Conservative, and his few weeks in office proved a failure in knitting the government together into an integral and working unity. So David Lloyd George, then an enormously popular figure who had the support of the common man, took over.

In 1940 there was a somewhat similar situation when Neville Chamberlain was assaulted by all the varied engines of political attack for his Munich policy of appeasement. A vote of confidence was called for and Chamberlain won. But his margin of victory was a scant 80 votes in a house that was overwhelmingly Conservative and he realized the jig was up.

Chamberlain gave his resignation voluntarily to the king, and Winston Churchill took over. The rest is history.

International Trade Relations In Motion Picture Field Bright

HOLLYWOOD, Feb. 15.—(INS)—Jack L. Warner, production head of Warner Bros. Pictures, arrived in Los Angeles today after a European tour, optimistic over the future of international trade relations in the motion picture field.

Warner's expressed views were: "A new British-American film trade agreement will be made this spring, and it seems likely that some restrictive quota will be placed on Hollywood product."

"However, I am satisfied that the real future of all international film relations—not alone with England—is in the hands of the hundreds of millions of theater-goers themselves. Entertainment cannot be created by legislation. It can be excluded or curtailed by quotas, license requirements and other controls, but only with consequent loss to both sides."

Barriers Futile
"It is futile for two great nations to set up artificial barriers against the free interchange of creative art and constructive films which can work importantly for better international understanding and the strengthening of world peace and commerce."

"The only basis for consideration should be quality."

"If a picture is good, there is room for it everywhere."

"If it is bad, no amount of protective action can make it acceptable to entertainment seekers in its own or any other country."

Warner observed that industry prejudices are overcome by quality in pictures, explaining:

"Good American films are enjoying enthusiastic receptions everywhere abroad, in exactly the way the several fine British films have been prospering in the United States."

In London, Warner backed his convictions by setting up arrangements with Associated British Pictures Corp., for the production there of at least six top-bracket pictures using Warner Bros. players, directors and producers as needed.

Explains Releases
These films, he said, will be distributed in America and foreign countries exactly as are Warner features made in our own studios. Once this program is successfully established, he added, Warner Bros. will withdraw from the production field in England.

While abroad, Warner added four new names to his studio's talent roster. Yves Montand, 25-year-old French-Italian singer, famed in Paris, will go to the studio early next summer and will be followed by Steven Vincent, another Parisian star.

Lois Maxwell, a young Canadian-born actress who was seen and signed by Warner while she was appearing on the London stage, is due to arrive at the Warner Studio this spring, as is also Robert Douglas, another English film and stage player.

IS TITHING SCRIPTURAL?
There are manifold instances recorded in the Old Testament where people paid one-tenth of all the material blessings they received from the hand of God. These tithes were brought into the Storehouse which represented the treasury, and from this source the Levites who served the Tabernacle were supported. (Numbers 18:25-28, Mal. 3:3-12). In the New Testament Christ commended those who tithed. When a person begins to tithe and brings "The Lord's Money" into the Church or Mission they are in line for a rich blessing. A common tragedy is to see some withhold the tenth from the Storehouse or Church simply because things do not suit them in the church. A church that is reaching souls should be supported with tithes and offerings. Too many folk are using the Tithe for personal needs and ambitions instead of bringing them into the Storehouse.
We specialize in teaching holiness of heart and life.

What shall we do about the people you dislike—relatives, neighbors, friends, strangers? Just why do you think of them as you do? Who is at fault? If you are not happy in your relations with other people there is something serious wrong.

Prepare Case For Argument

Another Legal Move In Action Growing Out Of Love Case Reported

OTHER NEWS OF COURT HOUSE

In an opinion and order handed down by Judge W. Walter Graham on Friday, Mrs. Amanda Greer Love is named as the plaintiff in an interpleader issue with the First Securities company named as the defendant. The issue will be heard when the proper papers have been filed by the plaintiff and this must be done in 20 days.

The order comes out of Mrs. Love's petition to enter the case of the First Securities company against Robert C. Love and the First National bank in which Mr. Love's account of $3632.18 was attached. Mrs. Love asked to intervene upon the grounds that the money was not Mr. Love's but was actually rents collected in his capacity as trustee for the Greer estate.

Judge Graham held that a petition to intervene did not solve the question properly and that an interpleader action was necessary. The issue has now been framed. In the opinion the First National bank disclaims any interest in the case and the court holds it is not a party to the action. The bank holds the money and will turn it over to whoever the court decides is the owner.

SENTENCE DAY

Three persons were before Judge W. Walter Graham on Friday for violations of the criminal code.

Warren Thomas Costal, a youth who confessed to a number of robberies, was up for sentence and probably be sent to George Junior Republic. Judge Graham delayed sentence until he could see what arrangements could be made for the young man's entrance to the institution.

Samuel A. Filigenzia was fined $400 and costs and three months in the county jail for gambling. A parole will be considered in 30 days if the fine and costs are paid.

Regina Shaffer, up on 15 counts of worthless checks, was sentenced to pay the costs and five months in the county jail. The jail sentence will be suspended if she makes good the amounts of the bad checks.

Honor Henry Home Children At Supper On Valentine Day

Spaghetti Supper Given By Group Of New Castle Women; Children Enjoy Splendid Program

A thoroughly enjoyable evening was spent by children of the Margaret Henry Children's Home on Friendship street, when a group of New Castle prepared and served a most delicious spaghetti supper Friday evening, much to the delight of the boys and girls who reside at the home.

Good Taste By FRANCINE MARKEL

WHEN BRIDE AND PARENTS ARE ESTRANGED

"My parents and I have been separated for some time. They go their way and I go mine. I have taken my fiancée to visit them but they are completely indifferent about him and our plans to marry. So naturally I am not going to ask them to have any part of our forthcoming marriage, as I know they will show the usual lack of interest. How then should my wedding invitations and announcements be worded? Who should give me away?"

Answer: Unless your parents have been insulting and forbidding, you should approach them on the subject of your marriage, to get their reaction to your being married at home under their aegis. Of course, if they refuse (and I cannot imagine such a thing) you will then be on your own. . . . To choose a relative (aunt, uncle, etc.) or an old family friend—an older person of course—to issue your invitations and announcements.

Were I in your place, I should vastly prefer to marry quietly, writing informal invitations and eliminating announcements entirely. If you ignore your family, you will proclaim to the world that there is a rift. And that sort of skeleton is better left in the closet.

If you are mature, you may announce your own marriage thus:

Miss Janet Roberts and Mr. William Porter Have the honor to announce their marriage on the twenty-second of February in (city).

Question: At an informal home or party wedding, are a hat and gloves necessary?

Answer: Yes. Even the bride who is marrying at home should not be bareheaded. A hat matching her dress or flowers in her hair will complete her ensemble.

Present your problems to Miss Markel who will promptly mail personal replies to questions from readers inclosing stamped, self-addressed envelopes.

"Please send me WATER for four baths"

THINK how inconvenient it would be if you had to order your water supply as you needed it!

BUT that's one thing you don't have to worry about or plan for. No matter how many times a day you turn the faucets in your kitchen, bathroom, and laundry, a dependable stream of pure, sparkling water always responds to your touch, without thought or effort on your part.

MOST homemakers will quickly agree that their water service is almost "worth its weight in gold." Yet the fact is, it costs the average family as little as five cents a day.

SINCE it costs so little, why not make it more convenient by having hot as well as cold water "always on tap" in your home?

Missing Torso Case Pondered At Pittsburgh

PITTSBURGH, Feb. 15.—(INS)—Pittsburgh police today pondered the case of the missing torso. They had the legs—artificial ones—found in front of a vacant store-room. A pair of brown shoes attached were wet.

Police Lieut. Paul Mozuch, a devotee of Conan Doyle, knows the legs walked last night.

To add to the mystery, a woman called police in a low, but clear and distinct voice and told them where to find them.

Lieut. Mozuch racked his brain for a clue, but none were forthcoming. He was puzzled over the question of how the torso left the legs.

There were no marks to indicate they had been deliberately placed in the doorway and no marks to show how the body left without the legs.

In fact Lieut. Mozuch literally admitted the case had him stumped and he didn't "have a leg to stand on."

Revenue Bills For Third Class Cities Proposed

Legislative committee of the League of Third class cities has directed several revenue raising bills, to be introduced in the state legislature, according to word received here today.

The legislation will propose a one cent tax on liquid fuel, cigarettes and amusements, for the use of municipalities.

Another proposed bill would grant permission to Cities of the Third class to erect lights where the locals officials believe they will better accomplish their purpose.

Find 'Jimmy' In Liquor Store Door

Appearance of Patrolman Harry Flinner in Produce street at 4:10 a. m. today scared away burglars who attempted to enter the State Liquor store. He found an iron "jimmy" in the door.

According to Lt. Thomas Lynch, the patrolman checked the doors to see that they were locked earlier in the morning but later retraced his patrol.

It is believed that the burglars heard the patrolman trying the doors again and frightened, fled, leaving the iron "jimmy" behind.

If you keep gasoline around the house for use as a dry cleaning fluid you are probably violating the law and endangering your home at the same time because of the flammability of the liquid and its vapors. FOLKS DON'T MIND PAYING WHEN THEY GET RESULTS

Taxes have never reached the first flight in popularity. Even back in the days of Babylon the people yelled about taxes, even as you and I.

But when you see direct results from tax moneys, folks don't mind paying, well not as much anyway. Here in Lawrence County we are getting two fine stretches of new highway, with more to come. Every county in the state is feeling the effect of gasoline taxes in the way of new highway.

The trucking industry in Pennsylvania has been and is a heavy tax contributor. Thirty million dollars in one year in taxes is a lot of money but that's the truck score. Trucks pay their way over the highways.

New Inner Tubes Will Not Buckle When Mercury Falls

Boon To Motorists Seen In Recently
Discovered Neoprene Weather
Resistors

NEWARK, O., Feb. 15.—(INS)—Drivers who have been plagued by synthetic inner tubes that buckle and become flat in the sub-zero weather may find science has come to their rescue.

Ralph M. Reel, vice president in charge of Research and Development for the Pharis Tire and Rubber Company of Newark, says a series of tests have proved that a new neoprene tube developed by his company can shake off temperature extremes.

The tests, as outlined by Reel, consisted of the following process: Tubes were inserted in a tire and mounted on an automobile wheel and the entire assembly immersed in an alcohol bath kept, by means of dry ice, at 40 degrees below zero for an hour.

When the assembly was removed from the bath, it was mounted on an automobile and driven four miles at 35 miles an hour. This cycle of immersing and driving was repeated ten times.

Reel explains that low temperatures accelerate a process in which synthetics tend to flow toward the crown of the tire, causing a long buckle or fold around the circumference. Reel says the tubes his company tested made a quick return to original form without permanent damage.

U. S. REDUCES PHILIPPINE BASES

ACCORDING to the objections of Philippine officials to original proposals for "more than 70" permanent Army and Navy bases, the United States now seeks approximately 20, according to a reliable source in Manila. 'Wonder' Baby Doesn't Perplex Parents Anymore

AKRON, O., Feb. 15.—(INS)—Mr. and Mrs. Lloyd Gillespie Sr. of Akron, aren't worried about their baby son any more.

When Lloyd Gillespie Jr. was born, some seven months ago, he weighed six and three-quarter pounds.

At five weeks of age he was able to hold his head up alone to pose for his first picture. Then he proceeded to cut two teeth at the age of two months.

He ate so much he worried his parents. They consulted a physician. "Give him all he wants," the doctor said.

When junior was six months old, he stood up and walked. Today the little champion baby walker's shoes are size four.

The Gillespies have no idea when their son will stop breaking records.

Lectures, Films, Relate Story Of State Police Work

HARRISBURG, Feb. 15.—According to a report issued from Pennsylvania State Police Headquarters, a total of 848,725 persons attended 3,580 meetings conducted by members of the State Police assigned to give the people of the state first-hand information about highway safety and criminal investigation work of the force.

Of these meetings, 2,855 were composed of school groups with a total attendance of 740,556. The remaining 725 meetings, sponsored by church and civic groups, were attended by 108,169.

State policemen appearing at the meetings lectured or showed motion pictures on highway safety and criminal investigation.

"Contact with schools and other community groups affords an excellent opportunity for promoting highway safety and telling of our criminal investigation work," said Col. C. M. Wilhelm, State Police Commissioner, in commenting of this phase of police work.

Hollywood Calls Young Choir Boy Of Columbus, O.

COLUMBUS, O., Feb. 15.—(INS)—Hollywood is beckoning a 15-year-old Columbus boy choir member.

Raymond Waters of (853 Broad-leigh road) Columbus is waiting expectantly for overtures from Metro-Goldwyn-Mayer and Selznick International. A baritone, he has already signed a three-year contract with the National Concert and Artists Corporation of New York.

It all began when the boy choir made an eastern tour last fall. Bobby-soxers mobbed the choir's dressing room to see Waters after the concerts, and word got around that he not only had a good voice but was also good-looking.

When Choir Director Herbert Huffman took young Waters to New York, NCAC signed the young baritone to a contract. Later, MGM and Selznick, both told him that he would probably be hearing from them.

Waters said he really didn't plan a musical career. He said he guessed he was "just sort of pushed into it."

New Slaughter Houses Erected

HARRISBURG, Feb. 15.—Nearly 400 new livestock slaughter houses were built in Pennsylvania since the licensing of such establishments by the Commonwealth became effective January 1, 1946. State Secretary of Agriculture Miles Horst announced today.

By the end of this year the number may be increased to more than 500, he said.

As a direct result of the licensing provision added to the meat hygiene law by the 1945 General Assembly, the public is now getting meats that are handled under general improved conditions, of sanitation, the secretary declared.

Punctual Ohioan Believes Clocks Should Chime Right

CHARDON, O., Feb. 15.—(INS)—Newton M. Goodrich, of Chardon, believes clocks should strike when they are supposed to—else what good are clocks.

Goodrich has in mind the clock on the court house steeple. "It doesn't even strike any more, and it's time something was done about it and the county commissioners notified," the chamber of commerce member declared.

"It's a good thing to hear these days about something that won't strike—but not a town clock," he said.

The present clock replaced an old one that couldn't take the Chardon blizzards. Commissioners were assured when the present clock was installed that it was blizzard-proof and would keep correct time regardless.

Goodrich hasn't been misled by the recalcitrant clock, however, as he attends all chamber of commerce meetings punctually. He has missed only one meeting in four years.

GIRL SCOUTS

TROOP 3 VALENTINE PARTY

Girls Scouts of Troop 3, passed their Hostess badge requirements with flying colors Thursday evening when they entertained other members of the troop and guests at a Valentine party given in First Christian church basement.

Barbara Wagner was in charge of games and presided as mistress of ceremonies during a "Truth and Consequence" quiz. Prizes were awarded to the following: Patty Ryhal, Elaine DeRekos, Arlene Bendorfer and Patty Hiler.

Mrs. Eileen McEwen and Mrs. Betty Lou Armstrong, one-time members of Troop 3 and present committeewomen, were special guests of the occasion and were each presented with a gift as a memento.

A delicious lunch was served the group, number 22, by Sylvia Borok, Bette Pearsall and Freda Holsapfel. They were seated at a long table decorated with flowers and tall tapers with each place marked with a clever favor made by Eileen Hoover.

Another feature of the evening was the opening of a lovely Valentine box which had been made by Nancy Saas and each girl received a number of valentines. The girls received congratulatory remarks by their visiting committeewomen and their leader, Laura Snider. Miss Mildred Miller, assistant leader, is instructress of the group working on their badges.

Albert I. Snyder, the driver, was killed. John Embrey, 20, and Joseph Cooperidge, 20, also of Newark, are in serious condition.

Their car crashed into a truck driven by 34-year-old Eugene Warner of New York. Warner told police the automobile swerved into the path of his truck.

REVEAL FARMERS BORROW MILLIONS FROM LAND BANKS

LOUISVILLE, Ky., Feb. 15.—(INS)—A million farmers have borrowed four and a half billion dollars from 12 federal land banks during the 30 years those institutions have existed.

John Moore, district supervisor of surplus land sales for the Louisville district, which includes Ohio, quoted those figures as he reviewed the agency's activities during a period that has included two wars and a long economic depression. Moore said loans had increased this year over 1945 totals. Included in the 1946 loans were six and a half million dollars to 1,500 ex-servicemen who bought farms.

The use of refrigerated railroad cars in the United States began 70 years ago.

Senator Taft Calls Conference On Budget Slash

WASHINGTON, Feb. 15.—(INS)—Sen. Taft (R) Ohio, today called a senate Republican policy committee meeting Monday to chart a course on the proposed six billion dollar slash in government spending.

Taft told newsmen that the question of approving a cut of this size in President Truman's budget recommendations would be reviewed mainly in the light of its effect on the adequacy of the armed forces.

The senator said that an alternative cut of four and a half billion dollars proposed by Sen. Millikin (R) Colo., chairman of the senate finance committee would also be discussed.

Taft supported Milliken's proposal in the congressional budget committee, but the compromise reduction was defeated by a decisive vote.

Ohio State Gets Fesler As Coach

Fesler Handed Five-Year Contract, Will Take Fisher And Clark With Him

By JOHN BARRINGTON
(International News Service Sports Writer)

COLUMBUS, O., Feb. 15.—Damon and Pythias were rejoined at Ohio State university today with the naming of Wesley Eugene Fesler as head football coach.

The university athletic board announced its approval last night of unofficial negotiations between Fesler, Athletic Director L. W. St. John and Director-To-Be Dick Larkins.

The appointment still must undergo the formality of submission to the board of trustees March 3.

Fesler was handed a five-year contract, the longest ever given a Buck football coach.

While salary terms were not disclosed, it was indicated that the former All-American end will start at $13,500.

Fesler replaced Paul O. Bixler, who resigned to become Colgate university coach.

Will Pick Aides
The new Buck mentor was to resign formally today as coach at the University of Pittsburgh.

Fesler planned to begin work at once on plans for spring practice. He needed also to round out his staff of assistants. Assured he would have a free hand in selecting his aides, Fesler already has named two Pittsburgh staffers to his Ohio State crew. Lyle Clark will be line coach while former Buck star Dick Fisher will have a backfield tutor's job.

W. & J. Battles West Virginia

WASHINGTON, Pa. Feb. 15.—(INS)—Washington and Jefferson, somewhat of a record-ruler itself, meets West Virginia's Mountaineers on the W. & J. court in Washington tonight.

West Virginia's record of 12 straight wins was snapped by Navy Wednesday night.

Feature of the game is expected to be a scoring duel between Fred Schaus of West Virginia, who has tallied 233 points in 13 games, and Hank Knoche of W. & J., who has 198 in ten games.

WILDCATS HAND INDIANS FIRST LOSS OF SEASON

all on Procopio's long push shot from mid-court. Kanagy added two points on a feed from McMillen. Procopio hit with a side bank, and Jackson added a foul to make it 23-18. Johns and Mayberry parried the margin to make it 23-22, Wampum, at the intermission.

Third Period Wild
Wampum ran their lead to 29-22 at the beginning of the third frame before the Wildcats found the range and began to retaliate. Mayberry tapped in a rebound and Cochran swished in a side push, then Mayberry hit with a foul to snarl it at 29-24.

From there on to the end of the period it was all Shenango with Mayberry making the final two-point shot of the quarter on an underhand shot to give the Nahas lads a 40-33 edge.

Shenango continued to sizzle in the last period. Mayberry knifed in a rebound and a lay-up to make it 44-33. Procopio arched in with an overhand effort, but Zeigler hit unmoled and Johns caged one to make it 48-35 at the last four minutes rolled around.

With the home fans crying for more points, the 'Cats did just that. Procopio gave the Indians their 37th point on a long set, but Johns and Zeigler added Shenango buckets to make it 52-37. Mohr hit from the charity lane for Wampum but Mayberry got into the clear for another double-decker to run it to 54-38.

Procopio added a foul shot and Jackson and Miller caged quickies to give Wampum 42 markers but Cochran got in the last throw to jump the Shenango total to 56 as the game ended.

The prelin went to Wampum's reserves, 45-27. Tuesday night the Indians will play East Brook while Shenango meets Mt. Jackson in a non-loop affair.

MARKET TODAY

DRIFTS LOWER

NEW YORK, Feb. 15.—(INS)—Stocks drifted moderately lower today in a spiritless session. A few high priced chemicals dipped sharply but elsewhere fractional changes were the rule.

Only 160 thousand shares were traded in the first half of the two-hour session.

Allied Chemical fell two points and Dow Chemical about as much. Pivotal like U. S. Steel, General Motors, Bethlehem Steel and Chrysler eased small fractions. Rails were dull and irregular. Most copper, rubber, oil, aviation and amusement shares were pared fractionally. Utility issues held in an extremely narrow range.

Other securities markets were as dull as stocks. Cotton futures extended yesterday's late rally.

Bessemer Dogs Must Be Tied Up

Frank M. Clark, chief of Bessemer Borough police, stated today that all dog owners of the borough and vicinity must license and tie their dogs. Immediate action is to be taken on all dogs found running loose in the borough, it was announced.

Mr. Clark reported that he has had many complaints of property destruction by dogs and it is feared that the many strange dogs running loose in the borough will cause personal harm to children or adults. For this reason the police chief said, all dogs found untied will be shot. Some of the animals are those dropped off near the borough by owners that didn't want the dogs. These dogs will be shot on sight, it was stated.

Oak Streeters Have Enjoyable Gathering On Friday Evening

Mid-Winter Reunion Brings Together Many Former Students At East Side School

Former students at Oak street school to the number of a hundred, gathered on Friday evening, for a get-together, and an enjoyable time was had in renewing old acquaintances by many who had not seen each other for years.

It had been planned to ring the school bell, summoning the former pupils during the evening, but because of the fact that the bell is cracked, it was necessary to settle for a few strokes on the school gong, by John L. Snyder, an old time janitor at the school.

Mrs. Elizabeth Knoblock Kleckner, the president, welcomed the group, and presided during the program.

There was a period of group singing, led by Lloyd Hamill, of Wurtzburg, past president of the association, and a quartet of handsome young misses vocalized very harmoniously on some of the current song hits. They were the Misses Elaine Lutton, Elizabeth Csizer, Carlotta Christoffer, Anna May Venturilla.

There were also some old time dance tunes fiddled by one of the county's best known exponents of this oldtime art.

As had been promised, there were no speeches, but the former pupils did a lot of talking among themselves as they recalled the outstanding events of their school years in the old building, which time had not changed one bit. Miss Iretta V. Darl, former principal, and the Misses Maude Young and Mattie Pascoe, former teachers were present, along with a number of former pupils who are now following that esteemed profession.

At the close of the evening's program, an appetizing lunch was served by a committee headed by Mrs. Nellie Lovelidge Farrell. Some very nice decorations for the evening were prepared by Misses Laina Niemi and Helen Clark, teachers at the building, and the principal, John N. Cornelius, was present to see that the old time pupils behaved as well as his present charges, and was well pleased with their conduct. In fact he expressed himself as willing to have them back again.

Governor Sigler For Vandenberg

WASHINGTON, Feb. 15.—(INS)—Governor Kim Sigler of Michigan on Friday pledged his support to Sen. Vandenberg (R) Mich., for the presidency in 1948 and disavowed any presidential ambitions for himself.

Sigler, in Washington to consult with the FBI in connection with subversive activities in Michigan, saw newsmen in Vandenberg's office.

Asked about a news story that mentioned him as a possible candidate in 1948, Sigler replied: "I never had any candidacy. I never dreamed of it."

"All that I'm interested in is doing a job as governor of Michigan, and I'm having a lot of fun doing it."

HOLLYWOOD, Feb. 15.—Win some Dale Evans, the thrush, has hung up her boots and saddle for good, and, brother, is she happy! After galloping through 23 western epics with Roy Rogers and Trigger, Republic has given her a choice dramatic role in "The Trespasser", and Roy, the "king of the cowboys", gets a new lady love, Jane Frazee.

No More Riding
"At last I'm doing the kind of things I want to do," Dale said, whose blonde hair has been restored to its natural copper shade. It was just three years ago that she took to the saddle, a place as unfamiliar to her as the cab of a locomotive.

Dale explained: "I was signed by the studio as a singer, and did a couple of pictures until they learned I came from Texas so they assumed I was a singer."
